Dear Security Experts and Interested Parties,

Call for Participation on the NASPO National Standards Committee.

NASPO International is reinitiating the revision of its ANSI/NASPO Security Management Standard. The work on this revision was suspended by NASPO in 2019 due to issues created with the Covid 19 Pandemic. This revision will primarily focus on the areas of IT security and any other areas that will need updating.

NASPO expects this revision to be completed within the next 12 months. All Meetings will be held virtually, the convenor may also schedule an in-person meeting in conjunction with a NASPO meeting. It will not be a requirement to attend in-person meetings. There will be no participation fee to participate on this standards project.

We are seeking individuals that represent the primary interest groups of: user, producer, and general interest. If you represent any of these groups, you are eligible to participate. NASPO may limit the size of the Committee for efficiency.

Any individual or organization that wishes to participate in the revision should contact Michael O'Neil at mikeo@naspo.info.

Best regards,

Michael O'Neil

President, NASPO International
