

SECURITY PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT TRAINING

PDT 102 Security Risk Management

Course Overview:

Risk assessment is the first building block in creating an effective security management system. This training is formulated for all types and sizes of organizations seeking to avoid the serious losses that can stem from unwanted fraud and counterfeiting.

Training covers the internationally recognized security standard ISO 31000 and a systematic approach to identifying and treating security risks. This training applies to organizations and distributors of material goods and/or its packaging.

Training Topics:

- ISO 31000 Standard
- a systematic approach to identifying and treating security risks
- quantitative vs. qualitative assessment
- security risk assessment model
- organizational risk assessment
- product risk assessment

What You'll Learn:

- practices that enhance security
- how to minimize losses
- ways to enhance health and safety
- ways to improve organizational preparedness
- how to create trust
- how to establish proactive rather than reactive management
- how to effectively allocate resources

Who Should Attend:

Brand owners, brand protection managers, food and pharmaceutical safety managers, packaging professionals, security labeling producers, and providers of related security products as well as other professionals involved in brand protection and anti-counterfeiting solutions.

(Attendees should have basic comprehension of the English language)

Fee and Prerequisites:

Full day course. Fee $525

Prerequisite PDT 101

Course Schedule:

See NASPO Website Events Calendar

Security Professional Development Training Series

- PDT 101 Security Awareness and Confidentiality
- PDT 102 Security Risk Management
- PDT 103 Securing Electronic Data
- PDT 104 Security Risk Treatments – Core Elements
- PDT 105 Knowledge Assessment

The NASPO Certification Program

Requirements for certification as a Certified Security Professional, CSP.

Complete courses 101 –104

Complete Final Exam 105 with a passing grade (80%).

Advanced Courses

- PDT 106 Train the trainer – NASPO Annual Refresher
- PDT 203 Using Risk management as a sales technique

For More Information contact

Mike O'Neill, President
NASPO International
mikeo@naspo.info
612.281.7141

www.naspo.info/training